CARSON CITY:

Sunday, March 23, 1873.

The Vicissitudes of a Hen-coop.

One of our citizens whose dwelling is in the eastern part of the city and therefore not far from Chinatown, (that region so dangerous to the safety and longevity of the feathered denizens of the barn-yard,) having occasion, during the recent season of festivities amongst our Mongolian neighbors to visit his hen-coop at an early hour of the morning, was surprised to find under the snow what seemed an animated gunny bag, the which, upon inspection proved to be a sack containing two very weak and discouraged pullets that had doubtless been wrenched with remorseless hand from the Morphean roosting pole, thence to be stuffed into an ignominious bag, and while still confined within which, to be ineffectually dropped by some scared invader of the henry abode. This startling discovery aroused the sleeping demon of suspicion within the breast of our worthy fellow townsman and he made a precipitate inspection of the place where, on the night before, his fowls had betaken themselves confidently and with an undisturbed sense of comfort and security to their accustomed places of repose, then and there to find that of the one hundred and twenty valued cocks, hens and pullets in whose crowing and eggs and ownership but the day before he had rejoiced, full four score had fallen a prey to the wicked greed of the midnight marauder! Who shall chide this justly enraged citizen, if, in the heat of his wrath he visited, in words, a quenchless damnation upon the thieves who had thus ruthlessly despoiled his premises? and who will wonder that when he smelt the odor of a multitudinous chicken stew as it attacked his nostrils from the direction of Chinatown he vented his hottest curses upon the supposititious Celestials who had ransacked and plundered his hen-coop? There was a natural and, as we hold, a justifiable longing for vengeance aroused within his heart; and he deliberately planned a piece of self-acting strategy which should not only protect his fowls but inflict a merited punishment upon such future coming robbers as might invade his inclosure with criminal intent. His design was not an original one, but none the less effective. He utilized a long disregarded and much rusted pistol of the horse variety and converted the same into a spring-gun. He carefully charged this with powder and lead and placed it where the next invader should be blown past all chicken stealing. The death-dealing-trap was only too soon and too fatally set at its direful work. It wrought something more shocking than mere revenge; something more lamentable than a swift and merited retribution; for as it is our painful duty to relate, on the morning subsequent to the placing of this avenging weapon in a position where it would discharge its contents into the stomach of whomsoever should attempt to open the door of the said henry, the oldest remaining cock, bent upon asserting his prowess and his domination over the females of his family, flew with all his strength against the door and set it to swinging violently in the breezy air until it strained so hard upon the string which was set upon the trigger of the pistol aforesaid, that that weapon was discharged with a tremendous and terrifying explosion—sending the death-dealing bullets not into the body of a mere worthless Chinaman, but into the head of any prowling hoodlum, but into the very heart and brain of the two finest pullets which the aforesaid marauders had neglected to steal! This story is only too true. We withhold the names out of consideration to the feelings of the victims of this chapter of accidents.

SOME "sports" were engaged in a game of what used to be called "cat ball" yesterday afternoon, on Capitol Square, and one of them hit the ball such a "go-sender" as to drive it through one of the panes of glass in a west window of the State Library. If the State don't want its glass broken let it remove its building from our regular ball-grounds!

LECTURE.—A. N. Fisher will give the second lecture on Mohammedism at the Methodist church this evening.

FIRE-LIGHT along the southern outskirts of the town was observable last evening between 7 and 8 o'clock. It was occasioned by the burning of some old Indian camps long situated thereabout. From the upper terrace of the town, about the R. R. round-house the effect of these fires was very fine.

APPLES.—Our old and respected friend, Aaron V. Wells, having embarked in the apple-dealing business, took occasion to advertise the fact by dumping half-bushel or so of some very red and sound specimens of that very desirable fruit into our composing room. May he prosper even to the extent of being able to do that same every week of his life.

NOT GONE TO CALIFORNIA.—We learn at the Governor's office that his Excellency has not gone to California, as we had supposed, but to the eastern part of the State where some business matters of his own demand his attention.

THAT FOOT-FROSTED SWED.—From Mr. Cheney of the Board of County Commissioners we learn that the man with the frosted feet in connection with whose case some of the papers in Humboldt and other Eastern counties have made some comments not complimentary to the authorities of Ormsby county, was so far cared for by himself as that his feet were carefully dressed by a surgeon who also prescribed some medicine for him. In addition to these voluntary attentions on the part of one of our Commissioners, the man was provided with all he wanted to eat while he remained here. As a matter of course this county cannot afford to find hospital accommodations for penniless persons who belong in other counties, especially in an instance like this, where, as we are told, this man was deceived into coming here by the cruel misrepresentation that in Carson there was a large general hospital that was open to everybody from all quarters. That he had rights in Humboldt county out of which he was cheated by false representations is clear enough when we state that at Battle Mountain or Winnemucca (at one or the other of which places he arrived soon after his feet were frozen) his boots were cut from his feet and he was otherwise made known to the people and authorities of that county as a man who stood in sore need of assistance. If anybody is to be blamed for dealing inhumanely with this poor fellow it is the person or persons, whoever they may be, in Humboldt county, who failed to get him taken care of in time to save his feet from amputation—which seemed to be an unavoidable resort in order to save life, when he was here.

$160,000.—Yesterday at the State Treasury, we caught Schooling and Yager in the act of counting the greenbacks which had been left there on special deposit by the applicants for school lands. Under the Act passed by the late Legislature, it is provided that the moneys thus deposited shall be placed in the School Fund and not kept in idle envelopes as heretofore. The said Act further provides that these moneys shall be returnable to the depositor upon his presentation of the Controller's warrant for the same. The amount on hand is about $160,000 currency.

REMOVAL.—Dr. Talcott dropped in upon us last night to say that he had removed his office from the lately occupied pigeon-hole on Carson street to more commodious quarters on Proctor street in rear of the Sazerac building.

B. FRED. BROOKS, bookseller, stationer and newsdealer, dealer in cheap jewelry, cutlery, toys, musical instruments, fancy goods, imported cigars and tobacco. Agency for the Royal Havana lottery, opposite the Ormsby House next door to Rail's hardware store, Carson City, Nevada.

"UNKNOWN" AND "HIGH LIFE."—An invoice of these celebrated cigars which had rendered R. Fred. Brooks' store so deservedly popular, arrived last night and are sold at a great discount (not next door) to the Ormsby House, Carson, Nevada.

The Eureka county chiefs have had a consultation regarding their respective rights as office holders under the law and the gubernatorial appointing power; and they have agreed upon a "comp" until the courts can settle the questions involved.

The famous Emma mine in Cottonwood Canon, Utah, is yielding more largely of rich ores than ever before—which will make John Bull's eyes bug out like a rife's upper lip.

OAKLAND is a dreadful place for naughty doings by amorous men. Right on the heels of the Gordon scandal comes a charge against one Rice who is accused of having committed rape upon his two step daughters. He was committed to jail, not being able to give bonds.

TICKETT who was so severely shot by Wood at Washington, Yolo county, Cal., the other day, is getting well.

PERRO RENO, the notorious desperado of Altar, Sonora, has suffered death at the hands of one of his outraged countrymen. The general impression is that it served him right.

Our dauntless legions at Lost River were busily and valiantly going to bed, when last a courier brought news from the perilous edge of battle. The somewhat famous Lava Bed is the one to which they were said to be going. The statement is open to doubts, however.
